Extract 2 Trade deficit widens

The UK's trade position deteriorated unexpectedly in July 2014 after imports increased more than exports, frustrating the Coalition Government's ambitions to rebalance the economy. The trade in goods deficit widened to £10.2 billion from £9.4 billion in June 2014. It almost matched the largest monthly deficit on record. The broader trade in goods and services deficit also widened in July 2014, to £3.3 billion from £2.5 billion in June 2014. The Office for National Statistics data showed a larger goods deficit in July 2014 driven by a £1.3 billion rise in imports to £34.2 billion, outpacing a £0.5 billion increase in exports to £24 billion.

In 2012, the Government set a target of doubling UK exports to £1 trillion by 2020 as part of a broader ambition to rebalance the economy away from consumer spending and towards manufacturing and exports. However, exports increased by just 2.1% in 2013 to £505.6 billion, and this target is looking increasingly challenging. With the eurozone economy remaining weak and ongoing unrest in Eastern Europe and the Middle East, export growth is likely to remain low in the short term.

Exchange rates are of particular concern for UK trade, according to Martin Beck, a senior economic advisor: "With around 45% of UK manufactured goods exported, overseas sales are key for continued growth in the sector. The recent fall in the value of sterling should, temporarily, boost prospects for UK exporters."

Extract 1 Bank of England could raise interest rates next spring, says Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) member

A Bank of England policymaker, Ian McCafferty, has reinforced expectations that the first rise in interest rates will come as soon as Spring 2015, in remarks that pushed up the UK's exchange rate.

Under Governor Mark Carney, earlier this month the Bank overhauled its forward guidance policy on when rates would rise from their record low of 0.5%. At the time it said a view in the financial markets that rates could rise in the second quarter of 2015 was consistent with its goal of keeping inflation close to the Government-set 2% target.

"The exact timing of course is going to depend on events that have yet to unfold in terms of how the recovery proceeds over the course of the next six to 12 months or so" said Ian McCafferty. He added that he was watching for pressures on inflation from pay deals negotiated in coming months. After years above its target, inflation has now fallen below 2% to stand at 1.9% in January 2014.

"If we did see some inflationary pressure – more than we currently expect in our central case – that would if anything, I suspect, lead the Committee to consider slightly earlier rate rises."
