MARK SCHEME

Maximum Mark: 50

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2023 series for most Cambridge IGCSE, Cambridge International A and AS Level and Cambridge Pre-U components, and some Cambridge O Level components.

This document consists of 15 printed pages.

PUBLISHEDGeneric Marking Principles

These general marking principles must be applied by all examiners when marking candidate answers. They should be applied alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptors for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme will also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptors for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptors for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently, e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptors.

PUBLISHEDGENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however; the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptors in mind.

PUBLISHEDEnglish & Media subject specific general marking principles*(To be read in conjunction with the Generic Marking Principles (and requiring further guidance on how to place marks within levels))*Components using level descriptors:

- We use level descriptors as a guide to broad understanding of the qualities normally expected of, or typical of, work in a level.
- Level descriptors are a means of general guidance, and should not be interpreted as hurdle statements.
- Where indicative content notes are supplied for a question, these are not a prescription of required content, and must not be treated as such. Alternative correct points and unexpected answers in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the knowledge and skills demonstrated.
- While we may have legitimate expectations as to the ground most answers may occupy, we must at all times be prepared to meet candidates on their chosen ground, provided it is relevant ground (e.g. clearly related to and derived from a relevant passage/text and meeting the mark scheme requirements for the question).

English Language specific marking instructions:AO1 Read and demonstrate understanding of a wide variety of texts. (Understanding)

- Marks should be awarded for the accuracy of the candidate's understanding of the text and its features, not for any analysis of them which is recognised under AO3.
- Where comparison is required, marks should be awarded for the candidate's recognition of similarities and differences between the texts and their features, not for any consequent analysis.
- When awarding a 'best-fit' mark within a Level for each AO, consider each bullet point equally.

AO2 Write effectively, creatively, accurately and appropriately, for a range of audiences and purposes. (Writing)

- Marks should be awarded equally on the basis of the level of the candidate's written expression (range of features used and accuracy) and the development of their writing (its organisation and relevance to task and audience).
- When awarding a 'best-fit' mark within a Level for each AO, consider each bullet point equally.

AO3: Analyse the ways in which writers' and speakers' choices of form, structure and language produce meaning and style. (Analysis)

- Marks should be awarded equally on the basis of the level of the candidate's analysis of the text's elements (form, structure and language) and of the writer's stylistic choices (including how style relates to audience and shapes meaning).
- When awarding a 'best-fit' mark within a Level for each AO, consider each bullet point equally.

In response to Question 1(a), candidates are required to write between 150 and 200 words. While there is no direct penalty for failing to adhere to this requirement, examiners should consider this an aspect of the response's 'relevance to purpose'. As such, adherence to the word limit is assessed as part of the second bullet point of AO2.

2	Language <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the way in which the writer uses lists and adjectives to describe variety in the setting e.g. the wind has dropped and the sea is flat and calm; A new music centre and a pair of speakers are the only luxury. The only printed books appear to be navigational charts and almanacs; a foetid, windowless airless cabin; weaving in and out, diving, backtracking, returning and always keeping just ahead of the boat, The sea is so blue and clear it is one of the most remarkable and beautiful sights of the journey so far • the way in which sensory details, such as sounds and vivid sights or smells, are used in the text to immerse the reader in the travelling narrator's experience e.g. Over the reassuring rumble of the engine, I can hear the soft sound of singing; There is Kasim, standing motionless and in perfect silhouette, looking out to sea and chanting; a foetid, windowless airless cabin which I hope we never have to make use of; The crew encourage them with drumbeats and whistles • use of a lexical field related to boats and the sea e.g. reassuring rumble of the engine; look towards the bows; the small foresail; This crew; The captain and his navigator, navigational charts; the bow wave; the raising of the huge sail • the use of verbs in the text, and their effect on the reader e.g. gather, rolling, weaving in and out, diving, backtracking, returning, show off, stay and play for example are all used to describe the way in which the dolphins provide welcome entertainment for the humans on board • vocabulary used to create a sense of calm and stillness e.g. Midday: 92 degrees F. under the awning, Sunday afternoon on the Al Sharma, a magical few minutes • the use of dialogue to indicate the connection and a lively communication between speakers of different languages e.g. 'ello Mi-ke!' 'Mi-ke, Mik-el Jack-son!' and to help relate the narrative e.g. 'Oh, plenty smuggling_in clothes_ wrist watches_ but,' he reassures me, 'we are not smugglers,' • the depiction of the crew as unfailingly kind and generous despite their limited possessions, space and, presumably, wealth e.g. those who have least are prepared to give most; This crew has given up a lot for us – sleeping space, living space and precious fresh water, sent to arrange some tea for us; unfailingly generous and helpful. • any other relevant language features in the text
