Section A: Analysis of Spoken Language

Read the texts on pages 4 and 5 and then answer the following compulsory question.

The two texts printed on pages 4 and 5 are examples of conversational interviews from the beginning of the Radio 4 programme Desert Island Discs in which celebrities discuss their lives.

In Text A, the presenter Kirsty Young talks with the comedian Russell Brand.
In Text B, the presenter Lauren Laverne talks with the comedian Alan Carr.

In your response to the question that follows, you must:

- draw on your knowledge of the different language levels
- consider concepts and issues relevant to the study of spoken language
- explore connections between the transcripts.

1. Analyse the spoken language of these interviews. You should compare the interactions between the speakers and the identities of the guests.

[^0]Text B: Alan Carr on Desert Island Discs

L: Lauren LaverneA: Alan Carr

L my castaway this week is Alan Carr (.) he's one of the country's best-loved standups (.) a TV favourite (.) and his brand of humour is the /twen?i/ first century version of a traditional seaside postcard (.) sharp (.) saucy (.) and 7 gloriously silly (1) he finds comedy in the ordinary stuff of life and revels in pop culture (.) so it comes as no surprise that he started his comedy career running a cabaret night in Manchester though he couldn't have known back then that it would lead to three stadium tours (.) two books (.) and long-running TV shows like Chatty Man and The Friday Night Project

Section B: Language Issues

Answer one question.
In your response to this section, you must:

- apply appropriate methods of language analysis, using associated terminology and coherent expression
- demonstrate understanding of relevant language concepts and issues
- consider contextual factors and language features associated with the construction of meaning
- provide supporting examples.

Either,

2. Read the following extract.

Two examples show the importance of language strategies in allowing writers or speakers to achieve their goals:

1. A minister is disturbed by the fact that the public continue to use the church car park while shopping nearby. As a consequence, there are not usually enough parking spaces for those attending church meetings on weekdays. His efforts fail until he comes up with a sign that reads THOU SHALT NOT PARK.
2. At an informal meeting, the Head of Department says to another member of the university "John I've got a problem - that is, we've got a problem and I think you can help solve it."

The language choices here are significant in establishing persuasive power.

Using this extract as a starting point, analyse and evaluate the ways in which either speakers or writers use language to achieve their goals by persuading others.

Or,
3. Read the following data.

```
Child: Want other one spoon, Daddy
Parent: You mean you want the other spoon
Child: Yes, I want other one spoon, please Daddy
Parent: Can you say "the other spoon"?
Child: Other one spoon
Parent: Say "other"
Child: Other
Parent: Say "spoon"
Child: Spoon
Parent: "Other spoon"
Child: Other spoon (pause) now give me other one spoon
```

Or,
4. Read the following extract.

The basic notions of accommodation theory are 'convergence' and 'divergence'. Convergence refers to the strategy of reducing dissimilarities used with communication partners and divergence refers to accentuating differences. The motivation for changing one's language in different situations can be identified as a desire to increase the efficiency of the communication or to gain social approval or to maintain their social identity.

Using this extract as a starting point, analyse and evaluate the ways in which speakers might alter their language to gain social approval or maintain their social identity.
