Mark Scheme

8700

November 2017

Version: 1.0 Final

Mark schemes are prepared by the Lead Assessment Writer and considered, together with the relevant questions, by a panel of subject teachers. This mark scheme includes any amendments made at the standardisation events which all associates participate in and is the scheme which was used by them in this examination. The standardisation process ensures that the mark scheme covers the students' responses to questions and that every associate understands and applies it in the same correct way. As preparation for standardisation each associate analyses a number of students' scripts. Alternative answers not already covered by the mark scheme are discussed and legislated for. If, after the standardisation process, associates encounter unusual answers which have not been raised they are required to refer these to the Lead Assessment Writer.

It must be stressed that a mark scheme is a working document, in many cases further developed and expanded on the basis of students' reactions to a particular paper. Assumptions about future mark schemes on the basis of one year's document should be avoided; whilst the guiding principles of assessment remain constant, details will change, depending on the content of a particular examination paper.

Introduction

The information provided for each question is intended to be a guide to the kind of answers anticipated and is neither exhaustive nor prescriptive. All appropriate responses should be given credit.

Level of response marking instructions

Level of response mark schemes are broken down into four levels (where appropriate). Read through the student's answer and annotate it (as instructed) to show the qualities that are being looked for. You can then award a mark.

You should refer to the standardising material throughout your marking.

The Indicative Standard is not intended to be a model answer nor a complete response, and it does not exemplify required content. It is an indication of the quality of response that is typical for each level and shows progression from Level 1 to 4.

Step 1 Determine a level

Start at the lowest level of the mark scheme and use it as a ladder to see whether the answer meets the descriptors for that level. The descriptors for the level indicate the different qualities that might be seen in the student's answer for that level. If it meets the lowest level then go to the next one and decide if it meets this level, and so on, until you have a match between the level descriptor and the answer. With practice and familiarity you will find that for better answers you will be able to quickly skip through the lower levels of the mark scheme.

The Indicative Standard column in the mark scheme will help you determine the correct level.

Step 2 Determine a mark

Once you have assigned a level you need to decide on the mark. This requires you to fine tune within the level to see how well each of the skills descriptors for that level has been met. Since responses rarely match a level in all respects, you need to balance out the range of skills achieved and allow strong performance in some aspects to compensate for other skills that may be only partially fulfilled.

The standardising scripts will help. There will be an answer in the standardising materials which will correspond with each level of the mark scheme. This answer will have been awarded a mark by the Lead Examiner. You can compare the student's answer with the example to determine if it is the same standard, better or worse than the example. You can then use this to allocate a mark for the answer based on the Lead Examiner's mark on the example.

You may well need to read back through the answer as you apply the mark scheme to clarify points and assure yourself that the level and the mark are appropriate.

An answer which contains nothing of relevance to the question must be awarded no marks.

Advice

In fairness to students, all examiners must use the same marking methods. The following advice may seem obvious, but all examiners must follow it closely.

1. Refer constantly to the mark scheme and standardising scripts throughout the marking period.
2. Always credit accurate, relevant and appropriate responses that are not necessarily covered by the mark scheme or the standardising scripts.
3. Use the full range of marks. Do not hesitate to give full marks if the response merits it.
4. Remember the key to accurate and fair marking is consistency.
5. If you have any doubt about how to allocate marks to a response, consult your Team Leader.

How does the writer use language to describe Sister Brendan?

[12 marks]

AO2 Explain, comment on and analyse how writers use language and structure to achieve effects and influence readers, using relevant subject terminology to support their views
This question assesses Language ie: Words/Phrases/Language Features/Language Techniques/Sentence Forms
Level	Skills Descriptors	How to arrive at a mark	Indicative Standard
Level 4 Detailed, perceptive analysis 10-12 marks	Shows detailed and perceptive understanding of language: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Analyses the effects of the writer's choices of language Selects a judicious range of textual detail Makes sophisticated and accurate use of subject terminology 	At the top of the level, a student's response will meet all of the skills descriptors. At the bottom of the level, a student will have Level 3 and at least one of the skills descriptors.	This indicative standard is not a model answer, nor a complete response. Nor does it seek to exemplify any particular content. Rather, it is an indication of the standard for the level. The writer describes her as an enthusiastic, excitable guide 'fluttering along the corridors,' suggesting the flapping, hopping movement of a bird. This bird-like effect links to the metaphor of the 'hungry blackbird out for the early worm' creating the image of a fierce-minded, shrewd head teacher, who despite her small size, has a keen appetite for the 'worm' – the inspector. The string of short or single syllable words - 'sharp little beak of a nose' and 'tiny, dark, darting eyes' - suggests a constant, restless movement as she surveys the school. The assonance in 'sharp', 'dark' and 'darting' hints at something more aggressive about Sister Brendan, creating almost a sinister figure, although this is contrasted with her cheerful 'chattering and chuckling,' implying the writer isn't very sure about his formidable host.
Level 3 Clear, relevant explanation 7-9 marks	Shows clear understanding of language: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Explains clearly the effects of the writer's choices of language Selects a range of relevant textual detail Makes clear and accurate use of subject terminology 	At the top of the level, a student's response will meet all of the skills descriptors. At the bottom of the level, a student will have Level 2 and at least one of the skills descriptors.	Sister Brendan is described as someone who is 'fluttering along the corridors' as if she were quick and light on her feet, a bit like a bird, which links back to the description of her as a 'blackbird.' She is also described as 'chattering and chuckling' which gives us an idea of how she is nattering away continuously to the Inspector. The alliteration of these words suggests the excited sounds of her chirping, like a baby bird, which creates the impression that Sister Brendan is talking non-stop to impress the Inspector.

Level 2 Some understanding and comment 4-6 marks	Shows some understanding of language: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Attempts to comment on the effect of language • Selects some appropriate textual detail • Makes some use of subject terminology, mainly appropriately 	At the top of the level, a student's response will meet all the skills descriptors. At the bottom of the level, a student will have Level 1 and at least one skills descriptor.	The writer uses lots of verbs to describe Sister Brendan, such as 'fluttering' and 'chattering.' The word 'fluttering' makes me think of something flapping, so maybe she has got clothes on which are flapping and floating around. The word 'chattering' creates the impression that she is talking all the time and is very cheerful and friendly. The writer uses a simile to compare her to a 'hungry blackbird' which makes it sound like she is lively and hops around.
Level 1 Simple, limited comment 1-3 marks	Shows simple awareness of language: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Offers simple comment on the effect of language • Selects simple references or textual details • Makes simple use of subject terminology, not always appropriately 	At the top of the level, a student's response will meet all skills descriptors. At the bottom of the level, a student will have at least one skills descriptors.	The writer describes Sister Brendan using words like 'fluttering' to show how she goes down the corridors. He also says that she is chatting away, which shows that she is talking a lot. He describes what she looks like so we can imagine her better. He says she is 'like a small hungry blackbird,' which is a simile that compares her to a bird saying she is like a blackbird.

- support your response with references to both texts.

However, Phinn's perspective is that of a visiting observer, whereas the writer of Source B is daily risking injury to teach students whom he feels are metaphorically 'at war' with him. The adverbs 'viciously' and 'fearfully' extend the imagery of school as a war zone. In contrast, Phinn's tone is admiring in his comparison of the school to a 'hive of activity' reinforcing his view of the industrious and harmonious community of 'busy bodies', suggesting he sees the school as inspiring and hopeful, unlike the master who uses a short, bleak sentence to express his pessimistic view of the future: 'It is a forlorn hope.'

The writer in Source A describes how the pupils work hard using a list: 'reading, writing, discussing, solving problems' to show the variety of educational activities available and he compares the school to 'a hive of activity' suggesting an admiration for the children working busily and in a focused way, like bees. On the other hand, in Source B, the writer's negative attitude is shown by phrases such as 'boxing most viciously' where the adverb 'viciously' shows how shocked he is by how violently the girls are fighting, especially in a school environment.

		one of the skills descriptors.	This reinforces the writer's committed attitude to the school as despite the challenges he keeps coming back the next day to try again.

He thinks the school does a good job teaching the children. The method he uses to show this is listing: 'Children's painting and poems, posters, pictures and book jackets.' This shows all the lovely different things the children have done at school. The other writer tries to have a positive attitude to his school, but it is harder for him because the children are not so well-behaved and willing to learn as in the primary school. He describes the girls fighting by using the word 'viciously' which is an adverb and shows that he is surprised by how violent they are, but he carries on teaching no matter how hard it is.

I know this because the writer describes all the things the children have made, like 'poems, posters, pictures.' In Source B the school is not so good and the children do not learn much because they are fighting and throwing stones. The writer in Source A shows that he thinks the school is good because the children are working all the time, but the other writer uses words like 'boxing most viciously' to show he thinks the students shouldn't be fighting in school.
