

GCSE MARKING SCHEME

SUMMER 2019

GCSE
ENGLISH LANGUAGE – COMPONENT 1
C700U10-1

INTRODUCTION

This marking scheme was used by WJEC for the 2019 examination. It was finalised after detailed discussion at examiners' conferences by all the examiners involved in the assessment. The conference was held shortly after the paper was taken so that reference could be made to the full range of candidates' responses, with photocopied scripts forming the basis of discussion. The aim of the conference was to ensure that the marking scheme was interpreted and applied in the same way by all examiners.

It is hoped that this information will be of assistance to centres but it is recognised at the same time that, without the benefit of participation in the examiners' conference, teachers may have different views on certain matters of detail or interpretation.

WJEC regrets that it cannot enter into any discussion or correspondence about this marking scheme.

Component 1 – Mark Scheme

Section A (40 marks)

General Instructions

Where banded levels of response are given, descriptors have to be applied using the notion of 'best fit'. Fine tuning of the mark within a band will also be made on the basis of a 'best fit' procedure, weaknesses in some areas being compensated for by strengths in others. Examiners should select one of the band descriptors that most closely describes the quality of the work being marked.

- Where the candidate's work convincingly meets the statement, the highest mark should be awarded.
- Where the candidate's work adequately meets the statement, the most appropriate mark in the middle range should be awarded.
- Where the candidate's work just meets the statement, the lowest mark should be awarded.

Examiners should use the full range of marks available to them and award full marks in any band for work that meets that descriptor. The marks on either side of the middle mark(s) for 'adequately met' should be used where the standard is lower or higher than 'adequate' but not the highest or lowest mark in the band. Marking should be positive, rewarding achievement rather than penalising failure or omissions. The awarding of marks must be directly related to the marking criteria.

This mark scheme instructs examiners to look for and reward valid alternatives where indicative content is suggested for an answer. Indicative content outlines some areas of the text candidates may explore in their responses. This is not a checklist for expected content in an answer, or set out as a 'model answer', as responses must be marked in the banded levels of response provided for each question. Where a candidate provides a response that contains aspects or approaches not included in the indicative content, examiners should use their professional judgement as English specialists to determine the validity of the statement/interpretation in light of the text and reward credit as directed by the banded levels of response.

Section A: 40 marks

To answer 01 and 02 you will need to read lines 1-17.

0 1List five things you learn about Jonathan in lines 1-17.*[5]

(AO1 1a and b)

This question tests the ability to identify explicit and implicit information and ideas.

Award one mark for each point and/or inference identified by the candidate, to a maximum of five:

- he moans about everything taking so long/judgmental/complains
- he claims it only takes him five minutes to get ready/self-righteous
- he shouts at his wife (NOT shouts a lot)
- he changed a nappy
- he thinks he 'does his bit'
- he complains about the mess/resents picking up toys
- he 'scowls grimly' (angry/intimidating)
- he is exasperated/irritable/impatient
- wants/expects things to run smoothly
- unsympathetic
- demanding
- struggles with Lorna over a toy
- feels unappreciated
- oblivious to her problems
- didn't help to plan/organise
- he has a baby (Matthew)

No mark should be awarded for unabridged quotation of whole sentences.

0 2

What impressions does the writer create of Frances in lines 1-17? [5]

You must refer to the language used in the text to support your answer, using relevant subject terminology where appropriate.

(AO2 1a, c, and d)

This question tests the ability to explain, comment on and analyse how writers use language to achieve effects and influence readers, using relevant subject terminology where appropriate.

Give 0 marks for responses where there is nothing worthy of credit.

Give 1 mark to those who make a very limited response.

Give 2 marks to those who identify some straightforward impressions of the character of Frances. Subject terminology may be used.

Give 3 marks to those who give some impressions of the character of Frances and use a range of evidence and language choice to support their answers. These responses may identify some relevant subject terminology, where appropriate.

Give 4 marks to those who give accurate impressions of the character of Frances and use a thorough range of evidence and language choice to support their answers. Relevant subject terminology may be used accurately to support comments, where appropriate.

Give 5 marks to those who make accurate and perceptive comments about the character of Frances and use a well-chosen range of evidence and language choice to support their answers. Well-considered, accurate use of relevant subject terminology may support comments effectively.

Details candidates may explore or comment on could be:

- she does not respond to Jonathan's complaint (immune to criticism/resigned/used to it)
- she is 'sagging' with the effort of organising everything (struggling to cope)
- she is 'fed up' with taking all the responsibility
- she feels overwhelmed by parenthood
- she can be sarcastic ('Congratulations')
- she is emotional/fragile/vulnerable (says she will cry if he shouts at her)
- she is exhausted (fatigue wore her down)/tired
- she feels her loss of freedom/unfulfilled
- she is frustrated by him
- likes to be prepared

This is not a checklist and the question must be marked in levels of response. Look for and reward valid alternatives.

0 3

Read lines 18-65.

How does the writer show the relationship between Jonathan and Frances in these lines?

You should consider:

- what Jonathan and Frances say and do in these lines
- the writer's use of language and structure to show their relationship

You must refer to the text to support your answer, using relevant subject terminology where appropriate. [10]

(AO2 1a, b, c and d)

This question tests the ability to explain, comment on and analyse how writers use language and structure to achieve effects and influence readers using relevant subject terminology where appropriate.

Give 0 marks for responses where there is nothing worthy of credit.

Give 1-2 marks to those who identify and begin to comment on some aspects of the relationship between Jonathan and Frances.

Give 3-4 marks to those who identify and give straightforward comments on some aspects of the relationship between Jonathan and Frances. These answers may simply identify some relevant subject terminology.

Give 5-6 marks to those who identify and comment on a number of aspects of the relationship between Jonathan and Frances and begin to show some understanding of how aspects such as language and organisation are used to achieve effects and influence the reader. These responses may begin to use relevant subject terminology accurately to support their comments, where appropriate.

Give 7-8 marks to those who make accurate comments about the relationship between Jonathan and Frances and begin to analyse how language and organisation are used to achieve effects and influence the reader. Relevant subject terminology is used accurately to support comments effectively, where appropriate.

Give 9-10 marks to those who make accurate and perceptive comments about the relationship between Jonathan and Frances and provide detailed analysis of how language and organisation are used to achieve effects and influence the reader. Subtleties of the writer's technique are explored in relation to how the reader is influenced. Well-considered, accurate use of relevant subject terminology supports comments effectively, where appropriate.

Details candidates may explore or comment on could be:

- they visit Hardy's cottage as a family
- Jonathan takes the children out of the cottage to let Frances have time to look around
- Frances reflects how it would be 'blessed' to be in the silence of a convent
- Jonathan buys a novel to read in a 'spare moment'
- she responds with irony (but not hostility)
- she says he looks 'lovely' with children at his knees (complex tone here?)
- her wish to be the one coming home from work to be pampered is revealing
- Jonathan is quick to point out that he doesn't get that (italics used for emphasis)
- there is some disillusion in her tone (the writer uses dialogue to show their relationship)
- the writer uses Jonathan's reflections on the development of their relationship
- she felt as if she were 'drowning'
- the second baby was like a 'wave that overwhelmed her'
- the writer describes Jonathan as 'ineffectual' but 'sympathetic' (a key phrase)
- she feels 'shattered' and 'never alone'
- he is defensive but she expresses her grievances clearly
- she does understand that it is not easy for him either
- he holds out his hand to her
- they hug tightly after the exchange of words
- there are stresses and strains but they are still a couple
- the writer uses action and dialogue
- the argument allows the reader to hear both sides
- some important choices of language and imagery

This is not a checklist and the question must be marked in levels of response. Look for and reward valid alternatives.

0 4Read lines 66-89.*What are Frances' thoughts and feelings in these lines? How does the writer show her thoughts and feelings?*You should write about:

- what happens in these lines
- the writer's use of language

You must refer to the text to support your answer, using relevant subject terminology where appropriate.[10]

(AO2 1a, c, and d)

This question tests the ability to explain, comment on and analyse how writers use language to achieve effects, and influence readers using relevant subject terminology where appropriate.

Give 0 marks for responses where there is nothing worthy of credit.

Give 1-2 marks to those who identify some straightforward feelings of Frances. Subject terminology may be used.

Give 3-4 marks to those who identify some of Frances's thoughts and feelings and begin to show some understanding of how language is used to achieve effects and influence the reader. These responses may identify some subject terminology, where appropriate.

Give 5-6 marks to those who give a range of Frances's thoughts and feelings and begin to analyse how language is used to achieve effects and influence the reader. These answers may use relevant subject terminology, where appropriate.

Give 7-8 marks to those who give a range of the Frances's thoughts and feelings and provide detailed analysis of how language is used to achieve effects and influence the reader. Subject terminology is used accurately, where appropriate.

Give 9-10 marks to those who make accurate and perceptive comments about Frances's thoughts and feelings and provide detailed analysis of how language is used to achieve effects and influence the reader. Subtleties of the writer's technique are explored in relation to how the reader is influenced. Well-considered, accurate use of relevant subject terminology supports comments effectively, where appropriate.

Details candidates may explore or comment on could be:

- she feels a 'rush of affection' as she watches her husband and children
- she feels free as she adjusts once more to the 'long view' (gets a sense of perspective)
- wants to be alone
- she finds it 'satisfying' and 'delightful' to watch her family
- she also thinks that she had not needed children to experience 'the delight of life'
- she is aware of the prehistoric traces in the cliffs
- she feels a sense of achievement/pride (she has brought up two children)
- she dawdles with 'deliberate pleasure' as she savours the moment
- she kisses Jonathan lightly when she returns and assures him she would not abandon them
- she insists she is not the same as she was
- she holds her daughter 'gently' in her arms
- plenty of examples of language choices (adverbs are significant)
- use of dialogue
- the writer is also omniscient

This is not a checklist and the question must be marked in levels of response. Look for and reward valid alternatives.

To answer this question you will need to consider the passage as a whole.

0	5

‘The writer presents Jonathan as a failure as a father and husband.’

How far do you agree with this view?

[10]

You should write about:

- your thoughts and feelings about how Jonathan is presented in the passage as a whole
- how the writer has created these thoughts and feelings

You must refer to the text to support your answer.

(AO4)

This question tests the ability to evaluate texts critically and support this with appropriate textual reference.

Give 0 marks for responses where there is nothing worthy of credit.

Give 1-2 marks to those who express a simple personal opinion with linked, basic textual reference.

Give 3-4 marks to those who give a personal opinion supported by straightforward textual references. These responses will show limited interaction with the text as a whole and/or how the writer has created thoughts and feelings.

Give 5-6 marks to those who give an evaluation of the text and its effects, supported by appropriate textual references. These responses will show some critical awareness of the text as a whole and how the writer has created thoughts and feelings.

Give 7-8 marks to those who give a critical evaluation of the text and its effects, supported by well-selected textual references. These responses will show critical awareness and clear engagement with the text. They will also explore how the writer has created thoughts and feelings.

Give 9-10 marks to those who give a persuasive evaluation of the text and its effects, supported by convincing, well-selected examples and purposeful textual references. These responses will show engagement and involvement, where candidates take an overview to make accurate and perceptive comments on the text as a whole. They will also explore how the writer has created thoughts and feelings with insight.

Areas for possible evaluation:

- he seems unfairly judgmental and selfish at first
- he seems to expect his wife to do everything and he complains when she struggles to cope
- he 'shouts' when Frances says she has had enough (plays the martyr)
- he complains about the constant mess and 'scowls grimly'
- he seems insensitive to his wife's feelings
- he was 'ineffectual' when she was struggling with having children (but sympathetic)
- the initial presentation is not favourable
- he does take them on a family outing
- he takes the children outside Hardy's cottage to allow Frances to explore in peace
- he sits the baby on his lap and reads to his daughter
- he points out that his life is not exactly easy
- he shows some understanding of his wife's difficulties (not totally insensitive)
- he claims he 'does his bit' but it is self-justifying/his 'duty'
- he takes advantage of her devotion to the children
- but they do fall into each other's arms and hug tightly
- in this section the reader's reaction is perhaps more balanced
- he plays with the children while Frances walks on the beach and seems relaxed and comfortable with them
- she kisses him when she returns
- he seems to appreciate the miracle of giving life to the children
- the writer uses the interaction between the characters to create a complex outcome
- he is not perfect but he does his best in his way

This is not a checklist and the question must be marked in levels of response. Look for and reward valid alternatives.

Section B (40 marks)

The following descriptors have to be applied using the notion of 'best-fit' and there is no intention to create a hierarchy of writing styles or content. The band descriptor that most closely describes the quality of the work should be selected:

- where the candidate's work convincingly meets the statement, the highest mark should be awarded;
- where the candidate's work adequately meets the statement, the most appropriate mark in the middle range should be awarded;
- where the candidate's work just meets the statement, the lowest mark should be awarded.

Examiners should use the full range of marks available to them and award full marks in any band for work that meets that descriptor. The marks on either side of the middle mark(s) for 'adequately met' should be used where the standard is lower or higher than 'adequate' but not the highest or lowest mark in the band.

Marking should be positive, rewarding achievement rather than penalising failure or omissions. The awarding of marks must be directly related to the marking criteria.

The candidates themselves set the level of difficulty in terms of the choice of content, form and structure as well as in use of language. Successful execution must be considered in relation to ambition; individual interpretations should be judged on their writing merits.

We cannot be too rigid in our suggestions about the length of answers, but responses which are very short will be self-penalising. Be prepared for the unexpected approach.

The total mark for Section B (/40) will be given by awarding two marks:

- communication and organisation (24 marks);
- vocabulary, sentence structure, spelling, punctuation (16 marks)

It is presumed that candidates attaining Band 2 and above will have achieved the criteria listed in the previous band(s). Fine tuning of the mark within a band will be made on the basis of a 'best fit' procedure, weaknesses in some areas being compensated for by strengths in others.

AO5 (60% of the marks available):

- Communicate clearly, effectively and imaginatively, selecting and adapting tone, style and register for different forms, purposes and audiences
- Organise information and ideas, using structural and grammatical features to support coherence and cohesion of texts

AO6 (40% of the marks available):

Use a range of vocabulary and sentence structures for clarity, purpose and effect, with accurate spelling and punctuation. This requirement must constitute 20% of the marks for each specification as a whole.

Narrative WritingAdditional task-specific guidance

Good answers may be characterised by some of the following features:

Communication and Organisation (AO5)

- a clear and coherent perspective (first or third person)
- content is relevant
- content is sustained and coherent and possibly imaginative
- a clear sense of direction and structure
- an evident sense of cohesion with material linked effectively
- appropriate and well-selected details give substance to the narrative
- details are observed closely and precisely
- close observation of the behaviour and emotions of characters
- convincing use of dialogue to develop plot and characterisation
- some development of reflections on what is experienced or observed by the narrator
- consistent awareness of the reader
- establishing a relationship with the reader/engaging the reader via devices such as asides, statements, questions, humour, a distinctive voice etc...

Vocabulary, sentence structure, spelling and punctuation (AO6)

- expression is clear, fluent and controlled (the best answers will show ambition and sophistication in expression as well as a high degree of accuracy)
- there are few, if any, errors (no more than a sprinkling of mistakes)
- tenses are consistent
- vocabulary is used precisely and appropriately to convey meaning
- punctuation is used accurately and appropriately (and unobtrusively)

Less successful answers may be characterised by some of the following features:

Communication and Organisation (AO5)

- content is thin and/or brief (lacking substance and scope)
- content is unconvincing and implausible in development
- content has little or no relevance to title (any link is forced or tenuous)
- uncertain sense of perspective (moves from first to third person or vice-versa)
- insecure sense of structure/direction and uncertain or even random sequencing (for example, an uneasy sense of chronology)
- a tendency for details to be handled in isolation with limited sense of substance or cohesion
- physical details described in a generalised, formulaic manner with little development
- general rather than specific description of characters and a tendency to use unconvincing stereotypes
- limited or inappropriate use of dialogue
- limited development of what is observed
- very limited awareness of the reader

Vocabulary, sentence structure, spelling and punctuation (AO6)

- expression/phrasing lacks fluency and clarity (a tendency to be awkward and limited)
- errors are basic and/or numerous
- tenses are inconsistent
- vocabulary is limited or used inappropriately
- meaning is not always clear or precise
