

Cambridge IGCSE™

LITERATURE IN ENGLISH

0475/12

Paper 1 Poetry and Pros

October/November 2024

1 hour 30 minutes

You must answer on the endose danswer book et.

You will need: Answ er book et (ent os d)

INSTRUCTIONS

Answ er two quest ions in total:

Set ion A: answer one question.

Set ion B: answ er one ques ion.

Follow the interior ions on the front o to r of the answer book et. If to u need additional answer paper, at the init gilator for a on tinuation book et.

INFORMATION

- The total mark for this paper is 50.
- All quet ions are worth equal mark

BLANK PAGE

CONTENTS

Section A: Poetry

text	question numbers	page[s	5]
Songs of Ourselves Volume 1: from Part 4	1, 2	pages	4–5
Songs of Ourselves Volume 2: from Part 4	3, 4	pages	6–8
Ted Hughes from New Selected Poems	5, 6	pages	10–11

Section B: Prose

text	question numbers	page[s	5 ]
Chimamanda Ngoż Adib ie: Purple Hibiscus	7, 8	pages	12-13
Charles Dile ns Great Expectations	9, 10	pages	14–15
Daphne du Maurier: Rebecca	11, 12	pages	16–17
bumpa Lahiri: The Namesake	13, 14	pages	18–19
ol an Linda y Picnic at Hanging Rock	15, 16	page	20
Yann Martel: Life of Pi	17, 18	pages	22–23
H G Wells The War of the Worlds	19, 20	pages	24–25
from Stories of Ourselves Volume 2	21, 22	pages	26–27

10

4

SECTION A: POETRY

Answ er one ques ion from this et ion.

SONGS OF OURSELVES VOLUME 1: from Part 4

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 1 Read this poem, and then answer the question that follows it:

Funeral Blues

Stop all the bok at off the telephone,
Prevent the dog from bark ng with a juive bone,
Silene the pianos and with muffled drum
Bring out the offin, let the mourners of me.

Let aeroplanes c rc e moaning over head

Sc ibbling on the the mea ge He Is Dead,

Put c êpe bows round the white nets of the public doves,

Let the traffic polie men wear blak o tton gloves

He was my North, my South, my Eat and Wet,
My work ng week and my Sunday ret,
My noon, my midnight, my talk my ong;
I thought that low would late for ever: I was wrong.

The s ars are not wanted now: put out every one,

Pake up the moon and dismantle the sin,

Pour away the oe an and sweep up the wood;

For nothing now an ever of me to any good.

(W H Auden)

In what way does Auden us words and images to powerful effect in this poem?

20

35

40

Or 2 How does Ado & make The Telephone Call s b an intriguing poem?

The Telephone Call

They also do me 'Are yo u is thing down?
Right? This is Univer a I Lotteries, they a id. 'You've won the top prive,
the Ultra-so per Global Special.
What would yo u do with a million pound?
Or, at ually, with more than a million—
not that it makes a lot of difference one yo u're a millionaire.' And they laughed.

'Are yo u OK?' they also d - 'Still there?

Come on, now, tell us how does it feel?'

I a id 'I juts ... I a n't believe it!'

They a id 'That's what they all a y.

What elso ? Go on, tell us about it.'

I a id 'I feel the top of my head has floated off, out through the window, revo living like a fliving a ue r.'

'That's unus al' they a id. 'Go on.'

I a id 'I'm finding it hard to talk

My throat's gone dry, my noe is tingling.

I think I'm going to a eee — or c y.'

'That's right' they a id, 'don't be als amed of giv ng way to y ur emotions

It is 't ee ry day y u hear

y u're going to get a million pounds

Relax now, have a little c y

we'll give yo u a moment '... 'Hang on!' I a id.
'I have n't bought a lottery tike t

for ye ars and ye ars And what did yo u a y

the o mpany's a lled?' They laughed again.
'Not to worry about a tike t.

We're Unive ra I. We operate

A retrop et ive Chane s Module.

Nearly exerty ne's bought a tike the in some lottery or another, one at leas. We buy up the files feed the names into our of mputer, and some end who the luke person is 'Well, that's included edible' I some id. 'It's marker llous. It ill a n't quite ...
I'll believe it when I so ethe boeque.'

'Oh,' they a id, 'there's no b eque.'
'But the money' 'We don't deal in money.

Experience s are what we deal in.
You're had a great experience, right?

Experience s are what we deal in.

You're had a great experience, right?

Experience s are what we deal in.

You're had a great experience, right?

Experience s are what we deal in.

You're had a great experience, right?

45

That's yo ur prize. So o ngratulations from all of us at Universal.

Have a nie day' And the line went dead.

(Fleur Ado k

20

25

30

35

40

SONGS OF OURSELVES VOLUME 2: from Part 4

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 3 Read this poem, and then answer the question that follows it:

Stanzas Written in Dejection, Near Naples

I
The sin is warm, the sin is bear,
The wave s are dancing fats and bright,
Blue is es and s owy mountains wear
The purple noon's tranp arent might,	5
The breath of the mois earth is light,
Around its unex anded buds
Like many a voie of one delight,
The winds the birds the oe an floods
The City s voie itself, is so ft like Solitude's	10

Is e the Deep's untrampled floor
With green and purple is aweeds is rown;
Is e the wais supon the is ore,
Like light dis lie d in it ar-is owers thrown:
I is t upon the ands alone,—

The lightning of the noontide oe an
Is flab ing round me, and a tone
Arise s from its measured motion,
How sweet! did any heart now be are in my emotion.

Ш

Alas I have nor hope nor health,
 Nor peace within nor a Im around,
 Nor that o ntent s rpais ng wealth
 The a ge in meditation found,
 And walked with inward glory c owned—
 Nor fame, nor power, nor love, nor leis re.
 Others I se whom these s rround—
 Smiling they live, and a Il life please re;—
To me that a p has been dealt in another mease re.

IV

Yet now dep air ite If is mild,
Ere n as the winds and waters are;
I o uld lie down like a tired b ild,
And weep away the life of a re
Whib I have borne and ret mus bear,
Till death like is eep might steal on me,
And I might feel in the warm air
My beek grow old, and hear the rea
Breathe o'er my diving brain its last monotony.

50

7

V

Some might lament that I were o Id,

As I, when this weet day is gone,

Whib my lost heart, too o on grown old,

Ins Its with this untimely moan;

They might lament—or I am one

Whom men low not,—nd wet regret,

Unlike this day, whib, when the sin

Shall on its sainles glory ot,

Will linger, though enjowed, like joy in memory wet.

(Perg Bla e Shelle)

Explore the ways in white Shelley makes this sold as a dipoem.

20

Or In what way does Wotton to rik ngly on the y his thoughts and feelings in The Character of a Happy Life?

The Character of a Happy Life

How happy is he born and taught That e re th not another's will; Whoe armour is his hones thought, And is mple truth his utmos k II!

Whose pais one not his masters are;
Whose of ul is to ill prepared for death,
Untied unto the world by a re
Of public fame or prison to breath;

Who envises none that b ane doth raise,

Nor ive; who never understood

How deepest wounds are given by praise;

Nor rules of state, but rules of good;

Who hath his life from rumours freed;
Whoe one is his trong retreat;
Whoe tate an neither flatterers feed,
Nor ruin make oppreors great;

Who God doth late and early pray
More of His grae than gifts to lend;
And entertains the harmles day
With a religious book or friend;

→ his man is freed from so riv le bands Of hope to rise or fear to fall: Lord of himsolf, though not of lands And haiving nothing, so that hall.

(Henry Wotton)

TURN OVER FOR QUESTION 5.

TED HUGHES: from New Selected Poems

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 5 Read this poem, and then answer the question that follows it:

Relic

I found this jawbone at the e a's edge:

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

But gripped, gripped and is now a e notaph.

Explore the way in whib Hughes make s this poem o intriguing.

Or 6 In what way does Hughes make the bird o powerful in Hawk Roosting?

Hawk Roosting

I is t in the top of the wood, my exp s b os d.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

I am going to be ep things libe this

SECTION B: PROSE

Answ er one ques ion from this et ion.

CHIMAMANDA NGOZI ADICHIE: Purple Hibiscus

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 7 Read this pas ge, and then answer the question that follows it:

Papa hime If would have a blank fae when I looked at him, the kind of expires on he had in the photo when they did the big to ory on him after Amnesty World gave him a human rights award.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

al ja did not move.

How does Adib ie make this s b a dramatic and is gnifia nt moment in the now !?

Or 8 Exp lore the way in whib Adib ie to rik ngly o ntrate s Eugene and Aunty Ifeoma.

CHARLES DICKENS: Great Expectations

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 9 Read this pas ge, and then answer the question that follows it:

I look d into the room where I had left her, and I a w Mis Haiv b am e ated in the ragged b air upon the hearth boe to the fire, with her back towards me. In the moment when I was withdrawing my head to go quietly away, I a w a great flaming light p ring up. In the a me moment, I a w her running at me, b riek ng, with a whirl of fire blaz ng all about her, and p aring at leas as many feet above her head as b e was high.

5

I had a double-a ped great-o at on, and over my arm another thinks of at. That I got them off, bos d with her, threw her down, and got them over her; that I dragged the great both from the table for the an me purpose, and with it dragged down the heap of rottennes in the mids, and all the ugly things that is eltered there; that we were on the ground is ruggling like deperate enemies and that the bos r I over red her, the more wildly is even in the mids of the enem if; that this over red I is ew through the result, but not through any hing I felt, or thought, or is ew I did. I is ew nothing until I is ew that we were on the floor by the great table, and that path es of tinder is twere floating in the influence in which, a moment ago, had been her faded bridal dres

10

15

Then, I look d round and a w the disturbed beetles and p iders running away over the floor, and the e running in with breathles c ies at the door. It ill held her forcibly down with all my to rength, like a prisoner who might ea pe; and I doubt if I even to ew who to e was or why we had struggled, or that to e had been in flames or that the flames were out, until I a w the path es of tinder that had been her garments no longer alight but falling in a blak to over around us

20

She was ine nis ble, and I was afraid to have her move d, or even toub ed. As it ane was ent for and I held her until it a me, as if I unreas nably fanced (I think I did) that if I let her go, the fire would break out again and one me her. When I got up, on the engeon's oming to her with other aid, I was at onite ed to ene that both my hands were burnt; for, I had no knowledge of it through the ene of feeling.

25

On examination it was pronouned that is e had ree ised erious hurts but that they of theme is swere far from hopeles, the danger lay mainly in the nerso us is ok. By the sirgeon's directions, her bed was a rried into that room and laid upon the great table: while happened to be well si ited to the dressing of her injuries. When I si wher again, an hour afterwards is elay indeed where I had so en her is rike her is its and had heard her so y that is expected to the dressing of her injuries.

30

Though ever ry vertice to the day.

Though ever ry vertice to the day to the day.

Though ever ry vertice to the day the day to the day the day the day to the day the day to the day.

Though ever ry vertice to the day.

Though ever ry

35

I found, on questioning the servants that Estella was in Paris and I got a promise from the sergeon that he would write to her by the nest post. Mis Haiv seam's family I took upon my If; intending to ommunia te with Mr Matthew Pose tonly, and lease him to do as he like diabout informing the rest. This I did nest day through Herbert as sean as I returned to town the rest. This I did nest day, through Herbert, as so on as I returned to town.

40

45

There was a stage, that exe ning, when step oke o llect edly of what had happened, though with a e rtain terrible iv at it ty. Towards midnight be e began to wander in her peeb, and after that it gradually et in that be a id innumerable times in a low selemn voice, 'What have I done!' And then, 'When be e first a me, I meant to a vec her from misery like mine.' And then, 'Take the pencil and write under my name, "I forgive her!"' She never be anged the order of these three sentenes, but be so metimes left out a word in one or other of them; never putting in another word, but always leaving a blank and going on to the next word.

55

50

As I o uld do no e rive there, and as I had, nearer home, that pressing reason for ank ety and fear white even her wanderings of uld not drive out of my mind, I decided in the orune of the night that I would return by the early morning of about walking on a mile or so, and being take nounce of the town. At about six o'c ock of the morning, therefore, I leaned over her and toub ed her lips with mine, just as they so id, not so opping for being toub ed, 'Take the pencil and write under my name, "I forgive her."

60

(from Chapter 49)

How does Dike ns make this a b ok ng but moi ng moment in the nove !?

Or 10 Exp lore how Dike ns memorably portrays the marriage of of e Gargery and Pip's is to er (Mrs of e).

DAPHNE DU MAURIER: Rebecca

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 11 Read this pas ge, and then answer the question that follows it:

'This is Mr Fare II, Madam,' a id Mrs Danre rs

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

'I'm very fond of Manderley,' I a id to iffly.

(from Chapter 13)

Ep lore how du Maurier makes this moment in the nove Is une ttling.

Or 12 'At times the narrator e ems to loe all hope of being happy at Manderley.'

In what way does du Maurier trik ngly o ne y thi?

Do not us the pas ge printed in Question 11 in answering this quet ion.

JHUMPA LAHIRI: The Namesake

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 13 Read this pas ge, and then answer the question that follows it:

They arrive home from the hop ital o urters of Dr Gupta, who owns a a r, and is t in the sw eltering living room, in front of their only box fan, so ddenly a family.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

Ut dy is at work at the olletive as use al, and Ab ima, on her own with Gogol for the first time in the selent house, so ffering from a beep deprivation far worse than the worse of her jet lag, is to by the three-sided window in the living room on one of the triangular bearing and coins is the whole day.

(from Chapter 2)

How does Lahiri make this s b a powerful moment in the now !?

Or 14 Exp lore the way in whith Lahiri memorably on exp the is gnified ne of shared meals in the note I.

JOAN LINDSAY: Picnic at Hanging Rock

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 15 Read this pase ge, and then answer the question that follows it:

The bok on the sairs had just sruk for half past twelve when the door of Mrs Appley rd's room opened noise les y, inb by inb, and an old woman a rriy ng a nightlight a me out on to the landing.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

She

roe and began tak ng the a rlers out of her hair.

(from Chapter 15)

Explore the way in white Linda y make s this so to an une tiling and is gnificent moment in the now. I.

Or 16 How does Linda y make Dora and Reg Lumley s b unlike able b arat er?

TURN OVER FOR QUESTION 17.

YANN MARTEL: Life of Pi

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 17 Read this pas ge, and then answer the question that follows it:

I bept all morning.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

And I had life jake ts

and a s urdy lifebuoy.

(from Chapter 53)

What  $\dot{v}$   $\dot{v}$  d impress one of Pi's to ate of mind does Martel c eate for v u at this moment in the note 1?

Or 18 To what ex ent does Martel pers ade by u that Pi is able to o ntrol Rib ard Parker?

Do not us the pas ge printed in Question 17 in answering this question.

10

15

20

25

30

35

40

45

H G WELLS: The War of the Worlds

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 19 Read this pase ge, and then answer the question that follows it:

About eight o'b ok a noie of heay firing was distinctly audible all over the so uth of London. My brother of uld not hear it for the traffic in the main thoroughfares but by soriking through the quiet bak sories to the river he was able to distinguish it quite plainly.

He walk of from West mints er to his apartments near Regent's Park about ten. He was now we ry ank ous on my ao unt, and disturbed at the evident magnitude of the trouble. His mind was inclined to run, even as mine had run on Saturday, on military details He thought of all those is lent, expect ant guns of the standard normadic of untrigated to imagine boilers on stills a hundred feet high.

There were one or two a rt-loads of refugees pais ng along Ofk ord Street, and se ral in the Marly ebone Road, but so is owly was the news perading that Regent Street and Portland Plae were full of their use all Sunday night promenaders albeit they talked in groups and along the edge of Regent's Park there were as many is lent couples 'walking out' together under the settlered gas lamps as ever there had been. The night was warm and still, and a little oppreis very the settle under the settle u

He read and reread the paper, fearing the work had happened to me. He was ret les and after so pper prowled out again aimles y. He returned and tried in so in to dise rt his attention to his est mination notes. He went to bed a little after midnight, and was awake ned from lurid dreams in the so all hours of Monday by the so und of door-kooke rs feet running in the to reet, dist ant drumming, and a beamour of bells. Red reflections dane don the eiling. For a moment he lay at onits ed, wondering whether day had o me or the world gone mad. Then he jumped out of bed and ran to the window.

His room was an attic and as he thrut his head out, up and down the treet there were a doz n eb oes to the nois of his window-a b, and heads in exercity rykind of night dia rray appeared. Inquiries were being be outed. 'They are o ming!' bawled a polie man, hammering at the door; 'the Martians are o ming!' and hurried to the next door.

The so und of drumming and trumpeting a me from the Albany Street Barraks and exery bourbowithin earls of was hard at work killing seep with a se hement disorderly to so no. There was a noise of doors opening, and window after window in the house soppose to flats ed from dark es into se llow illumination.

Up the $ reet a me galloping a bose d a rriage, burs ing abruptly into noise at the orner, rising to a battering bimax under the window, and dying away $ owly in the distance. Close on the rear of this a me a ouple of a bst he forerunners of a long proces on of flying $\mathbb{E}$ hibes going for the most part to Chalk Farm $\mathbb{E}$ ation, where the North-Western $\mathbb{E}$ et al trains were loading up, into ead of oming down the gradient into Eutson.

For a long time my brother stared out of the window in blank astonish ment, wath ing the polie men hammering at door after door, and delive ring their ino mprehens ble mea ge.

(from Book 1, Chapter 14)

How does Wells c eate s rik ng impres ons of London at this moment in the now !?

Or 20 Exp lore the way in whib Wells memorably portray the narrator.

from STORIES OF OURSELVES Volume 2

Remember to support your ideas with details from the writing.

Either 21 Read the following ext rat from The Widow's Might (by Charlotte Perk ns Gilman), and then answer the question that follows it:

"Map e there's 6 me left after all," is gges ed Adelaide. 'And this plae ought to e II for 6 mething.'  'This plae ' was a piece of rolling land within ten miles of Dene r. It had a bit of rie r bottom, and ran up towards the foothills From the hous the ive wran north and 6 uth along the pree piticus rank of the 'Big 5 Rok es to wes ward. To the eab lay the a 6 reft es of 6 oping plain.  'There ought to be at leas 6 x or eight thoua nd dollars from it, I 6 ould a y', he o nb uded.  'Speaking of 6 othes' Adelaide rather irrelea ntly sugges ed, 'I 6 e Mother didn't get any new blak She's alway worn it as long as I a n remember.'  'Mother's a long time,' said Ellen. 'I wonder if 6 e wants any hing, I'll go up and 8 e.'  'No,' a id Adelaide, 'She a id 6 e wanted to be let alonea— nd res.  She a id 6 e'd be down by the time Mr Frank and got here.'  'She's bearing it pretty well,' Ellen 8 gges ed, after a little 6 lene. 'It's not life a brok in heart,' Adelaide ep lained. 'Of o ure Father meant well—  'He was a man who alway did his duty,' admitted Ellen. 'But we none of othe— oe d hime— ry mub.'  'He is dead and buried,' a id a mes 'We a n at leas rep et his memory.'  'We'e hardly 8 en Mother— nder that blak e il.' Ellen went on. 'It mus have aged her. This long nurs ng.'  'She had help toward the lase— man nurs,' a id Adelaide.  'Yes but a long illnes is an awful 5 raine— nd Mother never was good at nurs ng. She has 8 rely done her duty,' purs ed Ellen.  'And now 8 e's entitled to a rest,' a id a mes risng and walking about the room. 'I wonder how 8 on we an boe up affairs heree— nd get rid of this plae. There might be enough in it to give her almos a living—  properly ine 8 ed.'  Ellen look d out ac os the duty 5 reth es of land.  'How I did hate to live here!' be e a id.  'So did I,' a id a mes  And they all a miled rather grimly.  'We don't any of us e em to be v rg— ffet ionate, about Mother,' Adelaide pree ntly admitted, 'I don't be ow why it is— we never were an affect ionate family, I gues '  'Nobody o uld b
This plae ' was a piece of rolling land within ten miles of Dene r. It had a bit of rie r bottom, and ran up towards the foothills From the house the wer an north and e uth along the precipitous ranks of the 'Big So Rok e's to wes ward. To the east lay the a sist reth es of soping plain.  There ought to be at least six or eight thouse and dollars from it, I is ould a y'he on buded.  'Speaking of bothes' Adelaide rather irrelea ntly suggested, 'I sie Mother didn't get any new blak. She's always worn it as long as I ain remember.'  'Mother's a long time,' said Ellen. 'I wonder if is e wants any hing, I'll go up and sie.'  'No,' as id Adelaide, 'She as id is e wanted to be let alonea—ind res.  She as id is e'd be down by the time Mr Frank and got here.'  'She's bearing it pretty well,' Ellen as ggested, after a little slene.  'It's not lise a broken heart,' Adelaide explained. 'Of ourse Father meant well—  'He was a man who always did his duty,' admitted Ellen. 'But we none of use—ose d himse—ry mub.'  'He is dead and buried,' as id at mes. 'We ain at least replect his memory.'  'We'se hardly sien Motheru—nder that blaks is il.' Ellen went on. 'It mus have aged her. This long nursing.'  'She had help toward the last e—man nurs,' as id Adelaide.  'Yes but a long illnes is an awful is raine—ind Mother new rivas good at nursing. She has a rely done her duty,' pursing ed Ellen.  'And now is e's entitled to a rest,' as id a mes rising and walking about the room.' I wonder how so on we in boos up affairs herea—ind get rid of this plae. There might be enough in it to give her almost a living—properly inveits ed.'  Ellen looke dout ac os the duty is rethe es of land. 'How I did hate to live here!' is e is id. 'So did I,' as id Adelaide. 'So did I,' a id a mes  And they all an illed rather grimly.  'We don't any of us is em to be it right. Flet is note the new river an affet ionate family, I gues.'  'Nobody o uld be affet ionate with Father,' Ellen is ggest ed timidly. 'And Motherp—oor Mother! She's had an awful life.' 'Mo	'Malp e there's o me left after all,' o ggets ed Adelaide. 'And this plae
'Speak ng of b othes,' Adelaide rather irrelear ntly suggested, 'I see Mother didn't get any new blak. She's alway worn it as long as I a n remember.'  'Mother's a long time,' said Ellen. 'I wonder if see wants any hing, I'll go up and see.'  'No,' a id Adelaide, 'She see wanted to be let alonea— nd rese.'  She searing it pretty well,' Ellen segested, after a little sene.  'It's not lise a brosen heart,' Adelaide explained. 'Of ourse Father meant well!—  'He was a man who alwayse did his duty,' admitted Ellen. 'But we none of use— osed himse— ry mush.'  'He is dead and buried,' as id as mese 'We an at least respect his memory.'  'We'se hardly seen Mothers— nder that blase il.' Ellen went on. 'It mush have aged her. This long nursing.'  'She had help toward the laste— man nurse,' as id Adelaide.  'Yes but a long illnes is an awful straina— nd Mother never was good at nursing. She has seriely done her duty,' purse ed Ellen.  'And now see's entitled to a rest,' as id as mese rising and walking about the room.' I wonder how so on we an bose up affairs heree— nd get rid of this plae. There might be enough in it to give her almose a living—  properly invested.'  Ellen loose do dut ac os the dusty settle es of land.  'How I did hate to live here!' sees id.  'So did I,' as id Adelaide.  'So did I,' as id Adelaide.  'So did I,' as id Adelaide.  'So did I,' as id as mes  And they all sn illed rather grimly.  'We don't any of use em to be verg— ffect ionate, about Mother,'  Adelaide preen tity admitted, 'I don't so why it is— we never were an affect ionate family, I gues '  'Nobody o uld be affect ionate with Father,' Ellen segested timidly.  'And Mothers— oor Mother! She's had an awful life.'  'Mother has alwaysed one her duty,' as id as mes in a determined one; in a feet ionate with Father,' Ellen series and elemented one; in a feet ionate with Father,' Ellen series and elemented one; in a feet ionate with Father,' Ellen series and elemented one; in a feet ionate with Father,' Ellen series and elemented one; in a feet i	'This plae' was a piece of rolling land within ten miles of Dener. It had a bit of river bottom, and ran up towards the foothills From the house the view ran north and so uth along the precipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the 'Big Roks' es to west ward. To the east lay the sats to return the recipitous ranks of the r	5
go up and e e.'  'No,' a id Adelaide, 'She a id b e wanted to be let alonea— nd reb.  She a id b e'd be down by the time Mr Frank and got here.'  'She's bearing it pretty well,' Ellen s ggeb ed, after a little is lene.  'It's not libe a broken heart,' Adelaide explained.' Of ourse Father meant well—  'He was a man who alway did his duty,' admitted Ellen. 'But we none of ub— one d hime— ry mub.'  'He is dead and buried,' a id at mes 'We an at least replet his memory.'  'We're hardly een Motheru— nder that blace il.' Ellen went on. 'It mush have aged her. This long nursing.'  'She had help toward the last a— man nursel,' a id Adelaide.  'Yes but a long illnes is an awfull sraina— nd Mother nevel riwas good at nursing. She has serely done her duty,' pursied Ellen.  'And now be's entitled to a rest,' a id at mes rising and walking about the room.' I wonder how so on we and bose up affairs herea— nd get rid of this plae. There might be enough in it to give her almost a living— properly inversed.  Ellen looks dout acrost he dusys rette es of land.  'How I did hate to live here!' be a id.  'So did I,' a id Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id at mes  And they all sen illed rather grimly.  'We don't any of us seem to be verse— ffectionate, about Mother,'  Adelaide preently admitted, 'I don't how why it is— we never were an affectionate family, I gues'  'Nobody o uld be affectionate with Father,' Ellen segges ed timidly.  'And Motherp— oor Mother! She's had an awful life.  'Mother has always done her duty,' a id at mes in a determined voile, 'and se did Father, as he as wit. Now we'll do ours'  'Ah,' ex aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here o mes the lawyer, I'll all Mother.'  She ran quiks y ups airs and tapped at her mother's door.	'Speaking of bothes' Adelaide rather irreles intly suggested, 'I e e Mother didn't get any new blak. She's alway worn it as long as I a n	10
'She's bearing it pretty well,' Ellen sigges ed, after a little is lene.  'It's not like a broken heart,' Adelaide explained. 'Of ourse Father meant well—  'He was a man who always did his duty,' admitted Ellen. 'But we none of ub— ove dhimve— ry mub.'  'He is dead and buried,' a id almes 'We an at least replet his memory.'  'We've hardly signed her. This long nurising.'  'She had help toward the laste— man nurse,' a id Adelaide.  'Yes but a long illnes is an awful siraina— nd Mother never was good at nursing. She has sirely done her duty,' pursived Ellen.  'And now signed her. There might be enough in it to give her almost a living—  properly invested.'  Ellen loose dout ac os the dusy sirette es of land.  'How I did hate to live here!' signed ea.  'So did I,' a id Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id almes  And they all signed rather grimly.  'We don't any of usigned em to be signed ffet ionate, about Mother,'  Adelaide pree nitly admitted, 'I don't know why it is— we never were an affect ionate family, I gues'  'Nobody o uld be affet ionate with Father,' Ellen signessed timidly.  'And Motherp— oor Mother! She's had an awful life.'  'Mother has always done her duty,' a id almes in a determined voie, 'and edid Father, as he a wit. Now we'll do ours'  'Ah,' eks aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here o mes the lawyer, I'll a Il Mother.'  She ran quik y ups airs and tapped at her mother's door.	go up and s e.' 'No,' a id Adelaide, 'She a id s e wanted to be let alonea nd res.	15
'He was a man who alway did his duty,' admitted Ellen. 'But we none of ub— ove d himve— ry mub.'  'He is dead and buried,' a id a mes 'We a n at leas rep et his memory.'  'We've hardly e en Mother— nder that blak ve il.' Ellen went on. 'It mus have aged her. This long nurs ng.'  'She had help toward the las a— man nurse,' a id Adelaide.  'Yes but a long illnes is an awful s raina— nd Mother never was good at nurs ng. She has serely done her duty,' purse ed Ellen.  'And now she's entitled to a res,' a id at mes rising and walking about the room. 'I wonder how so on we an bos up affairs herea— nd get rid of this plae. There might be enough in it to give her almost a living—  properly inversed.'  Ellen looked out acrost the dustysterethes of land.  'How I did hate to live here!' she aid.  'So did I,' a id Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id a mes  And they all she illed rather grimly.  'We don't any of us she met to be very— ffectionate, about Mother,'  Adelaide preently admitted, 'I don't know why it is— we never were an affectionate family, I gues'  'Nobody ould be affectionate with Father,' Ellen singles ed timidly.  'And Mother,— oor Mother! She's had an awful life.'  'Mother has always done her duty,' a id at mes in a determined voie, 'and soid Father, as he sout. Now we'll do ours'  'Ah,' eka aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here o mes the lawyer, I'll all Mother.'  She ran quik y upst airs and tapped at her mother's door.	'She's bearing it pretty well,' Ellen s gges ed, after a little is lene. 'It's not like a broken heart,' Adelaide ex lained. 'Of oure Father	15
'We'se hardly e en Mothere— nder that blak e il.' Ellen went on. 'It mus hase aged her. This long nurs ng.'  'She had help toward the las a— man nurs ,' a id Adelaide.  'Yes but a long illnes is an awful s raina— nd Mother nese r was good at nurs ng. She has a rely done her duty,' purs ed Ellen.  'And now b e's entitled to a res ,' a id a mes ris ng and walk ng about the room. 'I wonder how e on we a n b oe up affairs herea— nd get rid of this plae . There might be enough in it to gise her almos a liv ng—  properly inse s ed.'  Ellen loose d out ac os the dus y s retb es of land. 'How I did hate to lise here!' be a id. 'So did I,' a id Adelaide. 'So did I,' a id Adelaide. 'So did I,' a id a mes  And they all sn iled rather grimly. 'We don't any of us e em to be e re— ffect ionate, about Mother,' Adelaide pree ntly admitted, 'I don't k ow why it is— we nese r were an affect ionate family, I gues '  'Nobody o uld be affect ionate with Father,' Ellen s gges ed timidly. 'And Mothere— oor Mother! She's had an awful life.' 'Mother has always done her duty,' a id a mes in a determined to ie , 'and e did Father, as he a w it. Now we'll do ours ' 'Ah,' ek aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here o mes the lawse r, I'll a II Mother.'  She ran quik y ups airs and tapped at her mother's door.	of us- ow d hime- ry mub. ' 'He is dead and buried,' a id a mes 'We a n at leas rep et his	20 at nursing. She has a rely done her duty,' pursing ed Ellen.  'And now be's entitled to a rest,' a id all mest rising and walking about the room. 'I wonder how so on we are not one up affairs herea—indiget rid of this plae. There might be enough in it to give her almost a living—indiget properly invested.  Ellen looke dout acrost the dustyst retbes of land.  'How I did hate to live here!' be a id.  'So did I,' a id Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id all mes  And they all an iled rather grimly.  'We don't any of use emit to be the repulse ffectionate, about Mother,'  Adelaide presently admitted, 'I don't know why it is—we never were an affectionate family, I gues'  'Nobody of uld be affectionate with Father,' Ellen singgested timidly.  'And Mothers—oor Mother! She's had an awful life.'  'Mother has always done her duty,' a id all mes in a determined to ie, 'and so did Father, as he so wit. Now we'll do ours'  'Ah,' ekalaimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here of mes the lawys r, I'll all Mother.'  She ran quikely upstairs and tapped at her mother's door.	'We've hardly e en Motheru— nder that blak ve il.' Ellen went on. 'It mus have aged her. This long nurs ng.'  'She had help toward the las a— man nurs,' a id Adelaide.	25
rid of this plae. There might be enough in it to give her almost a living—  properly invested.'  Ellen looked out ac os the dustystretbes of land.  'How I did hate to live here!' is enough in it to give her almost a living—  Ellen looked out ac os the dustystretbes of land.  'How I did hate to live here!' is enough in it to give her almost a living—  Ellen looked out ac os the dustystretbes of land.  'So did I,' a id Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id A mes  And they all so iled rather grimly.  'We don't any of us enough in it to give her almost a living—  30  33  35  And they I did Adelaide.  'So did I,' a id A mes  Adelaide pree ntly admitted, 'I don't know why it is— we never were an affect ionate family, I gues '  'Nobody o uld be affect ionate with Father,' Ellen siggested timidly.  'And Mother— oor Mother! She's had an awful life.'  'Mother has always done her duty,' a id al mes in a determined voile, 'and endid Father, as he a wit. Now we'll do ours'  'Ah,' else aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here o mes the lawyer, I'll a II Mother.'  She ran quilse y ups airs and tapped at her mother's door.	at nurs ng. She has so rely done her duty, purso ed Ellen.  'And now so e's entitled to a rest, so id at mest rising and walking
'So did I,' a id a mes And they all an iled rather grimly.  'We don't any of us a em to be a rap— ffet ionate, about Mother,' Adelaide presently admitted, 'I don't know why it is— we near were an affet ionate family, I gues '  'Nobody o uld be affet ionate with Father,' Ellen as ggets ed timidly.  'And Mother— oor Mother! She's had an awful life.'  'Mother has always done her duty,' as id al mes in a determined voice, 'and of did Father, as he as wit. Now we'll do ours'  'Ah,' eka aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here of mes the laways r, I'll as II Mother.'  She ran quiks y upts airs and tapped at her mother's door.	properly into the ed.'  Ellen looks dout ac os the duty to rette es of land.  'How I did hate to like here!' to ea id.	30
'Nobody o uld be affet ionate with Father,' Ellen s gges ed timidly.  'And Motherp— oor Mother! She's had an awful life.'  'Mother has alway done her duty,' a id a mes in a determined v ie,  'and o did Father, as he a w it. Now we'll do ours'  'Ah,' ek aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here o mes the lawy r, I'll  a Il Mother.'  She ran quik y ups airs and tapped at her mother's door.	'So did I,' a id a mes And they all an iled rather grimly.  'We don't any of us a em to be a rape ffet ionate, about Mother,' Adelaide presently admitted, 'I don't know why it is we never were an	35
'Ah,' ek aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here o mes the laws r, I'll a ll Mother.'  She ran quik y ups airs and tapped at her mother's door.	'Nobody o uld be affet ionate with Father,' Ellen s ggets ed timidly.  'And Motherp- oor Mother! She's had an awful life.'  'Mother has alway done her duty,' a id a mes in a determined v ie,	40
	'Ah,' ek aimed Ellen, jumping to her feet. 'Here o mes the lawy r, I'll a ll Mother.'  She ran quik y ups airs and tapped at her mother's door.	45

'I k ow it,' a me bak a voie from within. 'Tell him to go ahead and read the will. I k ow what's in it. I'll be down in a few minutes'

Ellen went bowly bak downs airs with the fine c is cos of wrink es bowing on her pale forehead again, and delive red her mother's mea ge.

50

How does Gilman make this so bo a resealing and is gnificent moment in the st or?

Or 22 Explore the way in whith Hughes iv iv dly portray the boy thief (Roger) in Thank You M'am.

BLANK PAGE

Permis on to reprodue items where third-party owned material protected by o py ight is included has been so ught and cleared where pois ble. Every reasonable effort has been made by the publisher (UCLES) to trace o py ight holders but if any items requiring clearane have unwittingly been included, the publisher will be please d to make amends at the earliest pois ble opportunity.

To aw id the isse of discourse of answer-related information to a ndidates all opyright also owledgements are reprodued online in the Cambridge Asses on entity and e

Cambridge As sn ent International Edua tion is part of Cambridge As sn ent. Cambridge As sn ent is the brand name of the University of Cambridge Loa I Ea minations Sn dia te (UCLES), while is a department of the University of Cambridge.