General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the first candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the last.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- There is no ceiling on achievement. All marks on the mark scheme should be used appropriately.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification may be limited.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, the team leader must be consulted.
- Crossed out work should be marked UNLESS the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Marking instructions

Markers must apply the descriptors above in line with the general marking guidance.

Performance in AO1 and AO2 is interdependent. An answer displaying no qualities of AO2 cannot be awarded more than the top of Level 1, no matter how strong performance is in AO1; markers should note that the expectation for AO1 is that candidates demonstrate both knowledge and understanding.

The middle mark in Levels 2 and 3 may be achieved by stronger performance in either AO1 or AO2.

Indicative content guidance

Answers must be credited according to candidates' deployment of material in relation to the qualities outlined in the mark scheme. While specific references are made in the indicative content below, this does not imply that these must be included; other relevant material must also be credited.

Relevant points may include:

- Anti-Mormon hostility, which included mob attacks, led Brigham Young to leave the United States.
- To find a new settlement, a group of Mormons left Illinois for Omaha (February 1846), setting up rest camps along the Missouri River for groups to follow.
- After congregating in Omaha an advance party of about 150 set off (April 1847) for the Great Salt Lake along a route north of the Oregon Trail to avoid conflict with other settlers.
- Following the route set out by the advance party, a larger group set off with a clear path along the route.
- The main party arrived at the Great Salt Lake (August 1847), having followed the Mormon Trail laid by the advance party.
- The Mormon Trail would now allow thousands of Mormons in organised wagon trains to migrate to an established settlement at the Great Salt Lake.

3		Explain two of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The importance of changes in ranching for the cowboys' way of life. • The importance of the Exoduster movement (1879) for the growth of settlement. • The importance of the extermination of the buffalo for the Plains Indians' way of life. Target: Analysis of second order concepts: consequence/significance [AO2]; Knowledge and understanding of features and characteristics [AO1]. AO2: 8 marks. AO1: 8 marks. NB mark each part of the answer separately (2 x 8 marks).

The importance of the Exoduster movement (1879) for the growth of settlement

Relevant points may include:

- The Exoduster movement led to an increase in black settlement, including the all-black settlement of Nicodemus, founded in Kansas.
- The advertisement by individuals, e.g. Benjamin Singleton, of the benefits of a new life in the West for African Americans, saw a growth in settlement.
- The Exoduster movement saw former slaves escaping ex-slave states and wanting to settle in the 'free state' of Kansas in order to gain personal security, economic stability and a life of freedom.
- The first general migration of African Americans after the Civil War came about due to a rumour in 1879 that the government of Kansas would provide free land.

The importance of the extermination of the buffalo for the Plains Indians' way of life

Relevant points may include:

- Plains Indians' nomadic life relied on the buffalo for survival and they had no choice but to move onto reservations to survive via farming when the buffalo were nearly wiped out.
- The extermination of the buffalo allowed the US government to keep the Plains Indians within the reservations, as the right to leave the reservations was dependent upon having buffalo to hunt.
- Without the opportunity to hunt, the traditional role of the warrior was not possible and led to the demoralisation of the Plains Indians.
- The Plains Indians became dependent upon US government handouts which could be used as a method of controlling any resistance.
