QUESTION 2

Study the source below and then answer the question which follows.

Strikes have been called before agreements have ended. We've seen them used as a weapon of first resort, not as the last step after everything else has failed. We've seen strikes directed straight at the public to make you suffer—directed even at the sick and disabled. These strikes damage the reputation of all trade unionists, most of whom don't agree with them.

[Margaret Thatcher, leader of the Conservative Party, speaking in a television broadcast, 17th January 1979]

QUESTION 5

Read the interpretation below and then answer the question which follows.

Politicians consistently failed to highlight the many benefits of immigration during the post-war period. It had a positive impact on British society. This failure led to a racist backlash across British society. This was shown by the success of 'Nazi' National Front candidates in the council elections of 1976, as well as by an increase in racist violence.

[Ruth Brown, writing in an article entitled Racism and Immigration in Britain, published in the pro-immigration journal International Socialism (1995)]

How far do you agree with this interpretation of the impact of immigration on British society during this period? [16]

[In your answer you should refer to how and why interpretations of this issue differ. Use your own knowledge and understanding of the wider historical debate over this issue to reach a well-supported judgement.]

Marks for spelling, punctuation and the accurate use of grammar and specialist terms are allocated to this question. [3]
