Answer all questions.

QUESTION 1

This question is about changing attitudes to authority.

Study the sources below and then answer the question which follows.

Source A

Students marched from Criccieth to Blaenau Ffestiniog at the weekend. They carried bilingual banners with slogans calling for a total ban on all nuclear weapons. This was a well-organised peaceful protest.

[A newspaper report of a CND protest in 1962]

Source B

[A photograph of Cymdeithas yr Iaith protesting on Trefechan bridge in Aberystwyth in 1963]

What can be learnt from Sources A and B about protests in Wales in the 1960s?

QUESTION 2

This question is about political problems.

Study the source below and then answer the question which follows.

Source C

For the vast majority of the people of Wales the Investiture is a joyful and memorable occasion. For the ordinary man and woman, the political arguments are less important than the reality of a colourful ceremony involving a young prince and his family. In the past week or two, they have become more real thanks to film, photographs and interviews in the Press.

[A report on the Investiture of Prince Charles at Caernarfon in the newspaper the South Wales Argus published on 1 July 1969]

To what extent does this source accurately explain how the people of Wales reacted to the Investiture in 1969?

[In your answer you should refer to the strengths and limitations of the source and use your own knowledge and understanding of the historical context.]

QUESTION 5

This question is about popular entertainment.

Read the interpretation below and then answer the question which follows.

Television was the most important cultural change in the 1960s. It transformed people's lives completely. It ended the isolation of distant communities and helped create a national standard of behaviour. No one needed to leave home any more to escape from boredom.

[Sally Waller, a History teacher, writing in the A-level textbook A Sixties Social Revolution? British Society, 1959–1975 published in 2008]

How far do you agree with this interpretation of the impact of television on popular entertainment in the 1960s? [16]

[In your answer you should refer to how and why interpretations of this issue differ. Use your own knowledge and understanding of the wider historical debate over this issue to reach a well-supported judgement.]

Marks for spelling, punctuation and the accurate use of grammar and specialist language are allocated to this question. [3]
